More than ten years ago Mrs. Linnie Wright Barrett, of Dallas, Texas, undertook the collection of lineages of her immediate family, and as both her father and mother were born in Kentucky, the first search took the form of letters of inquiry to various relatives in Kentucky. These letters met with generous and enthusiastic response and cooperation, and shortly thereafter 2,000 lineage blanks were printed for submission of lineages in concise and authentic form.

Mrs. Barrett has, during the past ten years, made several trips to Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Washington, D. C.; for original research in County records and State Archives; her most recent trip being during September, October and November of 1938. She has spent much time in the Congressional Library, Newberry in Chicago, State Archives and Land Office of Virginia, and the libraries of Frankfort, Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Birmingham, Montgomery, Texas State and University libraries and many others. A wide correspondence with descendants has been built up. Current numbers of the Magazine of American Genealogy, Kentucky Register, D. A. R. Magazine and other genealogical and biographical publications are on the shelves of her library.

Numerous members of the various families have generously assisted in this work. Miss Katharine Adams, an experienced genealogist of Chicago, Mrs. Edith Carman Hay of Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. Neal Duncan of Chicago and Mrs. A. Edwin Rice (who is an experienced and efficient genealogist) of Russellville, Ky., all related to some family included in this research,—have made trips to Virginia, Washington, D. C., Kentucky and other points and have done original research work for the various families.

Especial recognition is made of the late Hon. Thomas Wright Thomas of Bowling Green, Ky., of Mr. Harry J. Wright of Mayfield, Ky., and of the late Mrs. Kate Duncan Smith of Birmingham, Ala., each of whom gave much early assistance and impetus to this work. Mr. Alexander E. Duncan of Baltimore, Mr. W. Hume Logan and Mr. Stewart E. Duncan of Louisville, Mrs. Wm. Claypool of San Bernardino and many others have given material assistance.

Now, we are about ready for publication of our family history, and are sending you this "Foreword" to urge that you send your lineage for inclusion in this forthcoming book. If you have already sent lineage, please send record of events that have occurred since your last writing; send us new names and addresses of descendants of these Virginia families who may be interested.

Mrs. Barrett is a member of the County, State and National Bar Associations, is Life Member and Fellow of the Institute of American Genealogy, Texas Women's Press Association, Dallas Penwomen, U. D. C., Kentucky Club of Dallas and is President of the Dallas League of Women Voters, Inc.

To the Reader:

Knowing that many Duncan descendants are now making independent research into Duncan records, and realizing the impossibility of reaching them thru the mails, we are placing this small collection of information in a few of the libraries thruout the United States, - hoping thereby to contact numerous descendants we have not contacted thru our mailing lists.

We hope you will not be disappointed when you have called for this "book" and have it before you, - but that you will take advantage of this "Foreword" and write to us for blanks as suggested in the foregoing inclosed folder.

Early Duncan families in Virginia were numerous and large ones. During the past years numerous attempts have been made to work out Duncan lineages by individuals and "genealogists", - mostly at "long range", - with the result that many errors have been made and perpetuated in manuscript and book form. It is, and has been for many years, an impossibility to work out the average Duncan lineage without BOTH extensive family correspondence and Bible records AND County and Archive records.

During the twelve year period the compiler of this Duncan family history has been working intensively by original research and correspondence, she has contacted others who have shown a disposition for patient and thorough research to the end that certain errors may be corrected and certain claims verified or disproved or labeled as tradition. "Tradition" is often helpful as a "lead", but should be verified, if possible. The result of this correspondence is a very alert and active Genealogical Committee. All our county and archive records are typed into "books" (more than 14 of them) consisting of about 50 pages each - indexed), with enough carbon copies for each member of the Committee. All

Following are a few family names appearing in Duncan lineages we have in our files:

LINNIE ALICE WRIGHT BARRETT

BARRETT, LINNIE ALICE WRIGHT (MRS.), was born in Birdville, Tarrant County, Texas, a daughter of Rev. William Henry and Alice Francina (Barkley) Wright. Both were well known in religious, educational and civic work during their lifetimes. A biographical sketch of Mrs. Wright appears in "Who's Who of the Womanhood of Texas." Mrs. Barrett was educated in the Dallas Public Schools, Hamilton College, Lexington, Kentucky, received her law degree from Jefferson University, Dallas and was admitted to the Bar in 1926. She has been active in club and civic work in Dallas and is a member of the Dallas Pen Women, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Women's Christian Temperance Union, is president of the Dallas League of Women Voters, Inc., and a member of the Christian Church. She was married to Arthur Eames Barrett in 1897 and has two children: Arthur Eames Wright Barrett, who married Willwinna Crenshaw and has son Arthur Jr.; and Irvine Ray, wife of Lieut. John D. Flannagan, (A.E.F.), with two children John Hart and William Wright. She is of English, Scotch-Irish and French Huguenot ancestry, her genealogy appearing in Volume V, Compendium of American Genealogy. Her ancestor Henry Mershon was guide to Washington in crossing the Delaware and her great grandmother, Rebecca Hart Barkley, was of the family of John Hart, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Three generations in her Duncan ancestry gave revolutionary service, John Duncan, John Duncan, Jr., and his son William Duncan. Mrs. Barrett does much genealogical work and is secretary of the Duncan Family Association and of the Wright Family Association. Her home is in Dallas, Texas.
